In modern day implant dentistry, there are many new and innovative procedures. We strive to educate, inform and discuss the many options available in the marketplace, as well as to discuss their applications in real world situations to allow you, the clinician, the ultimate decisions in what approach works best for YOU.

Upon completion of our course, you will leave with a thorough and comprehensive understanding of the various techniques and instrumentation associated with these procedures, as well as the ability to integrate them into your dental practice.
